Doctor Harding's garden brought forth a new wonder Saturday morning in the shape of a fairy lily, known to some as Lycoris. These buds just made their appearance through the hard baked ground, which has had no water all summer, on last Wednesday. Now they are on majestic stems of two feet in height. Each stalk has seven large, blue, sea-shell pink tipped with blue. The first thing which makes its appearance through the ground is the bud. These lilies are in bloom at Doctor Harding's garden on College avenue at the west end of the middle path. The public is invited to see them.

Hence perhaps it might be interesting to mention that she is not posing at present on account of a visit which she is expecting sometime in the winter or early spring from the big bird which spreads its many blessings regardless of one's station in life.

Stuffed Cabbage

By CONSTANCE CLARKE

A VARIATION from the plain vegetable dish may be found in the following recipe on stuffed cabbage, which is appetizing and easily prepared.

Take a large head of cabbage, cut out a plug-shaped piece from the centre and dig out the interior of the cabbage, sprinkle the inside with salt, pepper and melted butter and fill with the meat filling (prepared as below). Replace the plug and tie with a cord and steam the cabbage in a stewpan with a rack in the bottom.

MEAT FILLING—Take two or three peeled onions, chop them up in little dice shapes and put them into a stewpan with two ounces of butter. Fry them together for about fifteen minutes, then season with a little salt and pepper, add a teaspoonful of finely chopped sage, two ounces of white breadcrumbs, half a pint of brown gravy or stock and one pound of round steak as finely minced as possible. Let these boil together for about fifteen minutes and use as directed above. Serve with brown sauce.

AT THE THEATERS

The Iris.

"Little Lady Eileen," the girl who believes in fairies, starring Marguerite Clark, is the bill at the Iris today and tomorrow. The keynote of the picture is the implicit faith which Eileen has in the fairies, though nobody else among her companions takes any stock in such nonsense. So strong is her faith that the little Irish lassie actually sees the fairies themselves, though her lover is blind to them and scoffs at her.

The romantic atmosphere of old Ireland and the delightful subject, have given both the star and the director an almost unparalleled opportunity to give full rein to their respective abilities. Surely none could be better suited to a role of this kind than the diminutive Miss Clark, and the skill of Mr. Dawley in interweaving the real and the fantastic is too well known to need comment.

It was for this production that the folk-lore and tradition of old Ireland was exhaustively studied and much time was spent in the making of queer jaunting carts, old mule-drawn carriages, Irish railway coaches, and even papier-mache fairies, in the midst of which the tiny figure of Miss Clark is now lost and now looms gigantic.

The Orpheum.

Charles Ray and Frank Keenan are featured in a Triangle-Ince production,

Frank Keenan, Triangle.

"Honor Thy Name." Ray is one of the Triangle's promising young actors and gets away with his parts in good shape. Keenan has made his reputation as a comedian and his part in these two headliners is one of the best releases from Inceville this summer.

The Keystone comedy which is necessary to complete a Triangle bill will be received in time for the matinee performance.

The registration for contestants in the "Movie" impersonation stunt is in progress at the Orpheum and will close tomorrow night.

GAUNTIER TO CITY

Identity of "Mysterious Movie Star" Is Revealed Today.

Producer of Plays, Famous Character, Here for Convention

SHE'LL DANCE AT BIG BALL

Richard Travers, Another Favorite, Will Be Noted Guest.

Everything in Readiness for Meeting of Film Men.

Gene Gauntier, producer of plays, writer of scenarios, imitable portrayer of Irish characters, is the mysterious movie star to be present at the movie ball at Garfield park Wednesday night. A telephone message from Kansas City this morning verified rumors of Gene Gauntier's presence in Topeka this week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Tobias and daughter Jessie who have been visiting relatives in Manhattan, are expected to return today. Edward Johnson, timekeeper in the steel car shops has gone to Chicago for a two weeks' vacation.

Ralph Swearingen has returned to his desk in the auditor of disbursement's office after spending the week end at Baldwin, where he attended the Epworth League institute.

Gene Gauntier, famous movie star, to be at Garfield park Wednesday.

The well-known movie star sprained her ankle recently and that is the only thing, outside of cyclones and sudden death, that will cause her absence from the ball. But publicity men at Kansas City declare they'll bring her to Topeka if they have to carry her.

Went to Holy Land.

Gene Gauntier has appeared in plays produced by the Kalem people and the Universal Film company. She also has been in charge of producing companies of her own and one time took a company to the Holy Land, where she produced a play which met with success in this country for many months. But as a portrayal of Irish characters, Gene Gauntier won her fame. Her husband is a director for the Paramount people.

Richard C. Travers is another popular movie star to be present at the ball. Mr. Travers was born in northern Canada, April 15, 1885. He is the son of the first Protestant missionary in that territory and grew to boyhood in rugged out-door life, where he developed the physique that has carried him thru so many adventures. He came to the United States to study medicine, graduated and practiced law for a time in New York.

Fought the Boers.

Mr. Travers soon decided to go on the stage and went into stock. Shortly afterward he went to England and joined the British colonials in the campaign against the Boers in South Africa. He was wounded twice and still carries a piece of shrapnel in his left leg.

After the war he returned to the United States and resumed his work in stock. He later appeared in "Paid in Full," "Alias Jimmy Valentine" and a "Gentleman of Leisure." His last appearance on Broadway before joining Essanay in 1913 was in "The Passion of Joan of Arc."

He starred with Viola Allen in "The White Sister" and played leads in "The Man Trail," "In the Palace of the Kings," "Captain Jack of the Horse Marines" and "The Little Shepherd of Bargain Row." Other stars including Leota Lorraine, Audrey Munson and Herbert Brennan will be present at the ball.

Business Session Tuesday.

Full 200 are expected to attend the state convention of the Amusement Association of Kansas and Motion Picture Exhibitors' league in session in Topeka, Tuesday and Wednesday and Thursday of this week. This will include representatives of supply houses and accessories who will take advantage of this opportunity to sell their wares.

A business session will be held Tuesday morning at Representative hall where Governor Capper and Mayor House will speak. On Wednesday afternoon the big parade will be held. Various Topeka people will imitate well known stars in the parade and three judges, Fred H. Wilson, Cecil Howe and J. Carruth, Jr., will decide as to the best costume for which substantial cash prizes will be offered. The film companies will furnish floats, also the local motion picture houses. Marshall's Military band will lead the parade. It is probable that a large number of people will be taken. Following the parade, the visitors will be taken over the city in automobiles.

In the evening comes the big movie ball, open to all with the necessary price of admission. Extensive decorations will be done and the ball will
